I am a hard working individual looking for a new opportunity which will allow me to develop my existing skillset and give me the opportunity to learn new skills.

I work well on my own and even more so with others as I am very much a team player. I am a confident person and always up for a challenge!

In my spare time I'm an artist who customises trainers for extra income, I also create paintings/drawings for loved ones and I'm always making bouquets of flowers for them and myself. I have a vast variety of previous job experience and thrive on being given new challenges to overcome.

Work Experience

Recruitment Consultant

Cooper Lomaz

October 2025 to Present

During my time at Cooper Lomaz I have gone from a 180 delivery consultant where I'd recruit candidates and place them into a role where their skill set can flourish and they can be an asset to the company they're employed by to a 360 consultant which consists of B2B sales as well as delivery. I'm in contact with clients and bringing on board new clients, building rapport and creating relationships to generate more and consistent business.

Carer responsibilities

April 2025 to August 2025

During this time period I had carer responsibilities for a relative.

Sales Advisor

Vodafone

August 2024 to April 2025

In my role at Vodafone I work face to face with the general public to generate new business, upsell and cross sell whilst simultaneously resolving customer service, questions and complaints. I accommodate to different needs from different people that ranges far and wide. This is my second stint working with Vodafone and I have a reliable track record of bringing in £12,000+ per month every month. On my best day so far I made over 15% of my monthly target. I'm especially proud of my customer service skills and the way I handle situations that come my way.

The uk streetfood co

July 2023 to July 2024

My main role here is to cook/serve hot food, I take charge of daily and weekly cleaning tasks, handling money and making sure things are in order throughout the day. I am constantly involved with greeting and speaking to customers as well as making sure they receive a great friendly service during their short interaction.

Outbound Sales Agent

ResQ LTD Vodafone

November 2020 to March 2023

My main role at ResQ was to call existing Vodafone mobile/SIM only deal customers and sell home broadband to provide a discount on an additional service. This requires placing orders suitable for the customer, objection handling and plenty of patience. This also requires learning the systems and how to overcome errors which I had adapted to quickly.

During my time as ResQ, my sales skills developed even more and I mastered objection handling, investigation questions and the use of assumptive language to get the sales closed off. During my 2 ½ years at ResQ, I put on over 400 broadband sales and was often referred as a top agent and because of this I made a large amount of commission every month on top of my base wage. I learned how to manage accounts and go through the correct data protection, I also learned how to fix certain errors on accounts to avoid transferring the customer to someone else. I gained a lot of confidence in sales through this job and now feel like I am a very successful sales person.

Housekeeping

Reighton Sands Haven

February 2020 to July 2020

My job required the same tasks as a previous job I had - stripping and making beds, cleaning bedrooms, bathrooms, kitchens and sitting area. Everything made spotless from cleaning inside fridges to glasses to pots, pans, dusting and hoovering. An additional task was to mist the caravans before cleaning, using a specific product made for COVID-19.

Housekeeping

Aria Resorts

August 2019 to February 2020

My job required stripping and making beds, cleaning bedrooms, bathrooms, kitchens and sitting area. I had to make everything spotless, cleaning inside fridges, glasses, pots, pans, dusting and hoovering.

This job was very demanding and often challenging as there were very specific time scales of when the rooms were to be prepared for. This job increased my ability to meet deadlines and work was often stressful, so my ability to remain calm under pressure was enhanced significantly.

PC world/ Currys

October 2019 to January 2020

Description

I was a Christmas temp and I had learned a lot during my short time. I would work on the tills interacting with customers and handling money. My main roll was to sell smart watches, tablets, Apple products and laptops. This required taking time to talk to customers and engage in what they'd like, suggest to them something that was suitable and not just selling the most expensive product. A key point was to never pressure a customer and to give the best satisfaction.

Although I wasn't at this job for a long time, my sales skills significantly increased, which I have found to be one of the upmost important skills in life in recent years.

Cooplads Filey

August 2019 to September 2019

My main role during my short time was to serve customers by preparing the products from the bakery and serving them to customers, making hot drinks and sandwiches as well as handling money

This job improved my team work, organisational, communication and also enhanced my ability behind a till.

KFC Norwich

September 2016 to July 2019

I had many different positions within my job which included serving customers via using the till and handling money. I would pack customers orders and I was the main packer on a daily basis because I was the fastest in my job to keep the dispatch time low. Other times I'd prep the orders in the station called the middle of house which included making burgers, bagging up fries and using the correct amount of product specific for a meal. After we'd close the store I'd help cash up and bank the money. My duties also included cleaning, restocking and keeping the customer seating area tidy.

This job role included a vast range of daily tasks which helped me improve a lot of key skills. Perhaps the skill that was developed the most was my ability to work under pressure to ensure customer satisfaction levels were at a maximum at all times. This job role also improved my organisation, communication and team work skills and as I was cashing up at the end of most of my shifts, it shows how trusted I was by my manager.
