About Me

I am a hard working individual that thrives on a time crunch. I love talking to new people and helping them where I can. My sales experience is vast as I have been upselling in all of my jobs. Outside of work I love to travel and go to the theatre. I am a member of Fadlos because of this. Doing amateur theatre has given me confidence and happiness in myself and everything that I do. Right now my main focus is to use my sales, marketing, and customer service skills to further a career with the right employer.
